

Here is your Free report on The 7 Key things to Attract Money.

Know which way your cash is flowing.

Keep an expense log for at least 2 months. The longer you track your expenses, the more likely your expense figure will be accurate. Compare this figure with your monthly income. Your income is flowing positive if you have more income than expenses, and your income is flowing negative if you have more expenses than income. Focus on a positive cash flow, the more positive the better. You can increase your income or reduce your expenses if your cash is flowing negative.

3 Knowledge is power!

No one cares about your money and your family's well being more than you. Take control of your money and don't listen to anyone without doing your own research. Get educated about your finances. For ideas, check out our recommended book list.

5 Connect with community.

Gather with friends or join like-minded groups. Have fun and enjoy other people.

Giving is a powerful way to keep energy (and money) flowing.

The Universe, in infinite wisdom, has a fulfilling giving cycle. As you give and bless others you move closer toward your abundance.

Know that you are not your stuff.

One of the big money pitfalls is chasing money to acquire material stuff to increase your self-worthiness. Impressing your friends and relatives with a the big house that no longer makes sense; or acquaintances and strangers by buying the sports car, expensive jewelry, or fancy clothes, is passé. Let your true spirit shine! Your stuff does not define you. Letting go of some of your stuff may lighten your load to feel more freedom.

This is a great time to build your own economy.

Make a list of 5 things you enjoy doing and would do more often if you had more time. Review your list of 5 and select the one that jumps out at you. This thing you could do all day long for free. Now list ideas of how you could start making a few dollars taking action. Set a small goal of making $25 in the next 2 weeks doing this thing, and increase your dollar goal increments.

Gratitude is another tool in Leveraging Universal Power.

Feeling and expressing gratitude opens the doorway for more things to be grateful for to come your way. Daily writing of things you are grateful uses the power of the written word to allow grace to enter.
